YWCA Enid. Building Hope. Building Lives.

Women come to us in times of crisis, as survivors of rape or domestic violence. We work to help them become independent by providing support and counseling. They leave more confident with a renewed spirit, new skills, and stronger lives.

YWCA Enid is part of the oldest and largest multicultural women's organization in the nation. Across the globe, we stand with more than 25 million members in 106 countries, including 2.6 million members and participants in 300 local associations in the United States.

YWCA Enid is, at our core, emergency crisis-intervention services for victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking. We are the triage unit for survivors. YWCA Enid works to lay the foundation for survivors to rebuild lives free from shame, blame, and future violence. We provide help and hope in our community. More important than the numbers is our mission to eliminate racism and empower women. We provide safe places for women and girls, build strong women leaders, and advocate for women's rights and civil rights.

100 years of walking the talk in our Community

Since our doors opened in Enid in 1920, we have been on a mission to serve women and girls across all generations. The organization was created during a time when there was great gender inequality towards women and limited opportunities. A time where women were fighting for their rights to vote and couldn't sit on juries.

YWCA Enid and the women who have led this great institution have always been committed to our local community. In 1920, when YWCA Enid first opened, we provided safe housing for single women, business professional placement, as well as clubs where women could learn new skills, become community activists, and build camaraderie among like-minded women of their time.

The organization grew tremendously during those early years, including expanding our programs. Over the last 100 years, YWCA Enid has provided many opportunities through health, education, business, recreation, child care, and has been a driving force for change; we organized the first interracial programs in Garfield County, initiated the first gymnastics and swimming program for girls, and was a Founding member of the statewide Oklahoma Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault.

In 1970's YWCA Enid noticed our communities need for a shelter for woman escaping Domestic Violence and opened a residential home in Enid. It was the first program in the state to open specifically for battered women and their children. Since then, YWCA Enid has helped thousands of victims and their dependents survive domestic abuse. By the early 1980s, YWCA Enid moved their offices at 525 S. Quincy and the Crisis Center changed locations to an 11-bedroom shelter, the largest in the state at the time.

For over 100 years YWCA's around the world have been on a mission. Together we are creating change and addressing the issues that still plague women today: safety, equal pay, racial justice, and economic empowerment and advancement. Through the generous contributions of so many donors, YWCA Enid continues its mission and works to make an important and lasting impact on our community.

100 years, 100 years, WOW, let that sink in for a minute. In March 1920, a group of talented, strong, amazing women formed an organization to further empower women in our community. These women, have built a legacy, a legacy like no other.

YWCA Enid has certainly changed over the past 100 years and as we wrap up, what seems like one of the hardest years in history, I am thankful for the legacy of this organization. I am thankful that the legacy helped guide us through these difficult times.

As we were forced to close all our public facing programs to help eliminate the spread of the coronavirus, the shelter remained a vital program for our community. We could not have done this without the wonderful staff and leadership at our facility. Forced to cancel all in person events and go virtual to help spread our mission. Although our 100-year celebrations over the past year has not gone the way we planned. The pandemic we faced, from the health of our community, the economic hit, and just all-around uncertainty, has made the women of this organization much stronger.

As I close my year as board president, I cannot help but wonder what the next 10 years will bring to the community and the YWCA Enid. I dream of a nation less divided, without violence, the elimination of racism, and a nation where kindness is our first emotion.

Thanks!

Jennifer Bauman

Our Legacy of Leadership

Y. W. C. A. HEADQUARTERS IS POPULAR PLACE

The Y. W. C. A. headquarters, consisting of a business office, a large living room with rest room facilities and a kitchenette, are rapidly becoming the popular meeting place for the business and professional women of the city.

The living room is attractively furnished in brown wicker. The walls are hung with pictures — reading lamps and spacious couches invite the visitor to recreation and rest. A piano and Victrola are there for those who enjoy music; ten current magazines and a splendid library for those who wish to read. Many girls of the city enjoy the music and reading in the Y because they do not have these facilities in their homes, Miss Cora Rhoads, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., says.

At one end of the living room screens cut off part of the room. Behind these are cots with pillows and steamer rugs which are used every day by out-of-town visitors or weary business women.

The kitchenette is proving a very popular place for young girls to lunch. It is equipped with a double gas burner and a supply of dishes and a small table and four chairs. Girls who work or go to school prepare their lunches here each day.

The headquarters of the Young Women's Christian Association are a great addition to the convenience and comfort to the women and girls who are employed, to shoppers and to the travelers through Enid.

In 1919, Mrs. J.H. Hays was a delegate at a national YWCA Conference and became enthused at the idea of organizing a YWCA in Enid. She and a small group of women set out to raise $4000 to organize a YWCA in Enid, OK. By March 2020 these women raised $7000

HOME-AWAY-FROM-HOME — Lee Lei Wah, Katherine Tibbe and Jarunee Anawapalporn, YWCA residents, use the dormitory kitchen to prepare their evening meal. Lee Lei and Jarunee are from Thailand, studying at Enid Business College. Katherine's home town is Arvada, Colo., and she works at a local drug store. Twenty-eight girls are now residing in the dormitory.

For Working Girls-- YWCA Is Home Away From Home

It began in the early 1900's as a place of rest and relaxation, providing young working women a temporary "haven" from the rush of work. About 30 young women first used its facilities—took their lunch hour there and rested before returning to work. An employment service and counseling service was offered to those seeking work during depression times.

Now, the smell of attempted home-cooked food drifts down the halls of a resident dormitory on its second floor. Radios and record players are heard playing today's popular songs. High-pitched feminine laughter echoes through the corridors.

First located in one room above Enid's Masonic Hall in the 100 block of S. Independence, the Young Women's Christian Association moved in the 1920's to its present location, 320 1/2 N. Independence. Through the employment and counseling services have vanished as separate facilities offered, the "y" is still "a home away from home" for young women.

A residency, in the second floor of the two-story building, has been added. The average age of the girls living there is 19 years. "They come from smaller towns and farms in Oklahoma," said Mrs. Helen Himley, executive director of the YWCA. "Sometimes we have a resident student from Phillips University, but very rarely, as Phillips' students live mainly in the campus dormitories," she said.

Seventy per cent of the residents attend Enid Business College or the Beauty Academy. Others work in various offices or restaurants in town.

"The girls are self-governing," Mrs. Himley said. "They make their own rules as to what is expected of them in many areas, such as clean-up." A president and a vice president are elected by the dormitory residents. All girls residing in the "Y" are members of the organization, eligible to participate in any classes or activities offered.

Major rules concerning residency, such as how long the girls may live at the "Y," are made by the association's board of directors. Residency is now limited to five years.

Upstairs in the dormitory lounge are a television set, a radio, ironing board, hair dryer, couches and laundry facilities. A kitchen is located to the rear of the lounge, with kitchen privileges another facility offered.

Dormitory bedrooms have twin beds; the association provides bed linen. In the downstairs area, a "bath parlor," with television and magazines, is a place where the resident girls may entertain visitors.

"Two nights each month the girls are given "late keys," Mrs. Himley said. "This means they may come in at 3 a.m. Otherwise, they are expected to be in by 12 midnight."

Two dark-eyed young women from Thailand, Lee Lei Wah and Jarunee Anawapalporn, are now residents in the dormitory. They are students at the local business college. Lee Lei has been dubbed "Yvonne" and Jarunee, "Nancy," by the American girls.

CRISIS CENTER

YWCA Enid Crisis Center provides a safe haven for victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking. A 24 hour Crisis Line is also available with Spanish and English speaking victim advocates to offer crisis intervention, safety planning, assistance with protective orders, and many more helpful resources. All calls are confidential.

YOUTH PROGRAMS

YWCA Enid offers several annual events to meet the needs of the youth in our community. Girl Power is an annual event that empowers girls grades 5th - 9th by discussing current social issues such as bullying, self-confidence, beauty, and social media. YWCA Enid Project Cinderella Program provides free formal wear and accessories to Junior High and High School girls for school dances.

SANE PROGRAM

YWCA Enid has an on-site room for a specially trained SANE Nurse to complete exams on victims of rape and sexual assault. SANE stands for Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner. The room is designed to help comfort the victim as much as possible in the circumstances as opposed to a clinical hospital room. A SARA (Sexual Assault Response Advocate) is also provided and accompanies rape victims in their time of need. New clothing, medication, and counseling are also options provided to victims who come to the SANE room. This service is available anytime day or night.

MY SISTER'S CLOSET

Individuals in need can find clothing and household items at this on-site facility for free. The donated items from the community allow many women and children to get back on their feet when they arrive with nothing or when it is time for them to leave and start a new life. We also serve the community at large, including men.
